Timeline 2018

During my second year of service as World President of OMEP in 2018, I am indebted to our OMEP national committees for their full trust and support. Europe

NEKTARIOS STELLAKIS, handing over to INGRID ENGDAHL
Regional Vice President for Europe: 2018

The year 2018 was full of activities and challenges for all our Committees and members. Especially for our region, two issues seem to be characterized as hot: Quality in Early Childhood Education Care and Migrant, asylum seeking, refugees and children on the move. Moreover, we are concerned seeing ideologies that seek to promote populist, nationalist agendas spreading around in our region. Racism, racial discrimination, xenophobia and related intolerance are very worrying signals for our societies. Additionally, inequalities seem to increasingly affect families and children.

1 | Activities of Regional VP in 2018

Throughout 2018, I had the chance to visit some of our National Committees and participate in their activities: Bosnia and Herzegovina, Cyprus, Russia, Poland and of course Czech Republic, hosting the World Assembly and Conference. Moreover, in September with Lisbeth Gouin and Daniele Perruchon, I participated in the 9th UNESCO Forum for NGOs, "Another perspective on Migration" held in Tunis. Later, in December, Maria Pia Belloni and I represented OMEP at the UN Intergovernmental Conference held in Marrakech, with the aim to adopt The Global Compact for Safe, Orderly and Regular Migration. The document was later endorsed by the UN General Assembly on December 19, 2018.

2 | National Committee Activity Highlights

OMEP has a long and proud history in our region, Europe. The wide range of activities of European National Committees and of the region is covered by annual reports of the individual national boards. In 2018, many OMEP committees have arranged national conferences, e.g. Greece, Poland, Russia, Sweden and Turkey.

By studying these reports, it is clear the member countries do organize a number of interesting and useful events and activities benefiting care for and education of very young children. The national boards often focus on organizing conferences and workshops for the wide public and teachers, but they also offer specific activities (such as contests, entertainment events, or celebrations of International Days) targeting parents or children themselves.

3 | Major Strengths of the Region

We are the largest group in the OMEP family with strong tradition and public recognition. OMEP national reports show that OMEP actively takes part in public and political dialogues or debates and at the same time advocates for children's right to quality ECEC. In Bulgaria, OMEP has been very active during the EU presidency lobbying for children, and other countries that report good results are Finland, Germany, Israel, and Sweden. Some committees tell about academic research and projects; Croatia, Poland, Russia, Sweden and Turkey. Most committees arrange seminars and conferences, thus contributing to in-service and vocational training for teachers and staff, e.g. Croatia, Greece, Slovakia and Ukraine. Linked to the OMEP 70th anniversary, there are new publications in Bulgaria, Germany, Greece, Poland, Sweden and Turkey. OMEP Portugal describes organizing ICT-related activities for children and families. Some countries have organized study visits thus promoting international exchange; e.g. Czech Republic, Croatia, Finland, France and Poland. Another growing activity is recruiting and developing OEMP for student teachers and young professionals, which is happening in Croatia, Czech Republic, Ireland, Turkey and Portugal. Linked to this, we now have good experiences of new ways to promote and market OMEP, with the help of social media, blogs, Twitter et cetera (e.g. Greece and Ireland).

4 | Main Rooms for Improvement

More collaboration between National Committees in the region is always in demand. The same applies for collaboration between regions. There are some excellent examples of collaboration between Europe and Africa (France) and many national committees participate in the existing European OMEP projects about Art (Cyprus), Toys (Russia), Wattsenglish (Czech Republic), and of course many committees participate in the three OMEP World projects, ESD; Play & Resilience and Wash. Advocacy in country and in international entities are, also, among our duties and we should try to raise our voices for children, families and early childhood education, e.g. within the network of Eurochild, which is situated in Brussels, Belgium.

The UN SDGs and the upcoming 30th anniversary of the UN Convention on the rights of the child are already on the agenda for many national committees. Here we have a great chance to raise our common voice and argue for quality ECEC for all children.

Strengthening the dialogue with academia is an area that can be improved. We should promote OMEP work and world projects in journals and conferences.

Finally, attracting new members, especially young persons, could be set as a priority for all OMEP committees in our region.

5 | Upcoming Plans, Activities and Goals

Many countries plan to actively participate by informing the national report to the CRC (Committee on the children's rights) in Geneva about the situation for young children and early education in their countries. This seems to be a growing concern linked to the 30th anniversary. OMEP Germany reports about a growing concern and a project linked to the topic of full-day care at primary school age. Here is an excellent topic for collaboration between the European committees, and also with the Erasmus+ project on transition from preschool to school (Croatia, Iceland, Ireland and Sweden).

Other plans include the continuation of child-oriented projects like the Voices of children (Art-Cyprus), Toys (Russia), ESD (Sweden and Czech Republic), celebrating Special days. Finally, linked to the OMEP Action plan 2018-2019, some countries report affiliation with UNESCO and UNICEF (e.g. Bulgaria and Sweden), but the number of these contacts in Europe may grow.

6 | Final Words

It was a very active year and I worked hard to meet the expectations of our members. Finally, I did my best to actively communicate with all national boards throughout the year. It has been my permanent concern that everyone has enough information and stimuli to work in order to promote our scope and visions.

During World Assembly 2018, the baton was given to a new Regional Vice President for Europe, Ingrid Engdahl from Sweden. She will lead the region the next years and I strongly believe that she will fulfill the duties with success.

With great interest I enter my positions as VP for Europe for the years 2019-2021. My priorities will be honouring and celebrating the 30th anniversary of the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child (2019), initiating and spreading projects for sustainability in the early years and the 17 UN Global goals and deepening our understandings and efforts around children in migration in Europe.

CHRISTIANE BOURDAGES SIMPSON

Regional Vice President

1 | Activities of the Regional Vice President in 2018

- In the first year of my term, having three small committees spread across vast geographical areas is a challenge. However, all three committees include excellent leaders, as well as hardworking and long-committed members. Each of the national committees strives to attract and sustain new members, especially students and young professionals.
- In this first year, I had to become familiar with the activities of the different committees, take stock of the actions and policies put in place as well as the practices that take place in the vast territory that I represent. Composed of 3 committees, Canada, Haiti and USA, with a small number of members, with few material and financial resources, the challenge is daunting. Having face to face meetings is difficult and costly considering that none of the three committees has a sizable treasury.
- This first year, supported by long time experienced members committed and engaged in the cause of OMEP, I was able to prepare a scenario that will lead to the proposal of a strategic plan at the regional meeting in Panama in 2019. Meanwhile, I
 - Planned and hosted Regional Meeting in June 2018 in Prague during the 2018 World Assembly
 - Communicated with the national committee presidents more often and share information.
 - Encouraged national committees to become more involved in OMEP's ESD, WASH, and UN celebrations

2 | National Committee Activity Highlights

- OMEP-Haïti

3 | Major Strengths of The Region

All three committees are small. Two of the three small national committees (Canada and US) are spread across vast geographical areas, making in-person meetings difficult and costly. None of the three committees has a sizable treasury. However, all three committees include excellent leaders, as well as hardworking and long-committed members. Each of the national committees strives to attract and sustain new members, especially students and young professionals.

4 | Main Areas for Improvement

Eunhye PARK, our World President at the Podium

The Collective Consultation of NGOs on Education for All Coordination Group

Maggie Koong

Our Consultation has had two meetings in Beirut and Paris over the past year. Members from different regions of the CCNGO Coordination Group reported their current and upcoming inputs to SDG4 in terms of research, action and advocacy, and discussed the opportunities and bottlenecks of the process of SDG4 implementation. The meeting focused on developing an action plan that contributes to the key global and regional events of education, including SDG-Education 2030 Steering Committee, the Global Education 2030 Meeting, and the preparation of the High-level Political Forum (HLPF) review.

During the meeting on the 8th of March in Paris, I led a review session reflecting on the roles of CCNGO members and the implementation of SDG4 and strategies, and its ability to maximize civil society participation, input, communication, and advocacy at global, regional and national events. We discussed ways to mobilize partner, institutionalize meaningful civil society participation in the SDG processes, and obtain official recognition and status for Civil Society Organization generated data or reports. A strategic plan for 2019-2020 for the CCNGO was developed by the end of the session.

As OMEP's representative of CCNGO, I was invited to attend the Global Education 2030 Meeting from the 3rd to 5th of December in Brussels. The meeting reviewed progress towards the global commitment to the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, and brought together the global community to collaboratively map out the priority areas that requires systematic policy focus and set the course for education goals for the next four years. The meeting concluded with the finalisation of the Brussels Declaration, and the key messages to be discussed at the 2019 HLPF and the United Nations General Assembly were outlined.

Early childhood education is one of the 12 main themes which is considered as a vital issue to be achieved on the Global Education 2030 Agenda. In the early childhood section, policy recommendations are as below;

- Urgent policy prioritization and a significant increase in financing by governments, partners, and donors to this sub-sector, with an aim to increase financing to at least 10% of education budgets
- Governments taking on a progressive universalist approach to expansion of services, ensuring access for the most marginalized children is prioritized
- Strategic investments in improving quality, including strong quality assurance and workforce development, and robust ongoing professional development opportunities

OMEP is a selected partner in UNESCO's GAP network 3 on teacher education and professional development. OMEP works in cooperation with other NGOs from all over the world. Unfortunately, most organizations are focusing on school children, and most common is upper secondary students. The work takes place within each organization and the sharing take place in webinars organized by UNESCO head quarter. It is seldom or never related to ECEC. This is where OMEP really can make a difference. OMEP has for instance advocated, with some success, for ESD to be fully integrated into early childhood teacher education curricula.

Every year, there is also a conference or work-shop where all organizations take place. 2018, the UNESCO GAP conference took place in San José, Costa Rica on the topic Peace and Sustainable Development. The representatives from OMEP were Glynne Mackey and Ingrid Pramling Samuelsson. In 2019, there will be a UNESCO GAP forum in July in Viet Nam on Education for sustainable development and global citizenship. OMEP will be represented by Ingrid Pramling Samuelsson and Eunhye Park and they run a session there: Strengthening the Foundational Role of Early Childhood Education.

OMEP yearly adds to the Global Action Programme by reporting about the OMEP activities taking place around the world in the annual GAP Partner network 3 questionnaire. OMEP is doing its best to make the voice of young children heard, not the least via the Early Childhood Resource Bank (<http://www.eceresourcebank.org>) where information about new projects constantly are included.

We also distributed Call for Applications for OMEP's 10th award for ESD projects for 2019, and this year for the first time OMEP also run an application for Student ESD Award. OMEP's strategy to involve early childhood educators in ESD through the OMEP ESD travel award competition has been highly successful, with many applications and increasingly high-quality projects throughout the ten years of the competition. In 2019, 356 early childhood teachers, more than 6,627 children, their families and different local partners were involved in projects submitted for consideration for the award.

In 2019, there were 20 applications for the ESD Award, and 4 applications for the Student ESD Award; 2 from North America, 0 from Africa, 1+1 student from Asia Pacific, 6 from Latin America and 11+3 student from Europe. They were all interesting, fruitful and it becomes obvious that ESD and the child's participation and voice are solidly founded within the OMEP projects. Most applications this year came from Turkey, 7, Chile, 3, and Croatia, 3.

CPE Tortue tête, sustainable childcare centre

We also this year want to express sincere gratitude to the Vice Chancellor of the University of Gothenburg who financed the ESD leadership committee meetings.

We would like to stress ESD as being a holistically integrated approach within ECEC, and the importance of giving greater recognition about the meaning of education in early childhood settings (i.e., not just formal education, or schooling, but rather the totality of the young child's experiences across all domains of development (cognitive, social, physical, linguistic, and moral/ethical), responsive to communication and interaction with parents, other children and adults in homes, communities, and child care environments.

Play and Resilience

A China-Africa Collaboration Project for Building a Peaceful and Sustainable Future

Play and Resilience: A China-Africa Collaboration Project for Building a Peaceful and Sustainable Future is to enhance young children's resilience and potential to contribute to a peaceful and sustainable future, through awareness raising, tools development, capacity development and community relationship building. The project is implemented in China and three African countries (Nigeria, South Africa and Zimbabwe) and the planned duration is 2.5 years (January 2017 to June 2019).

In China, the two target groups of preschool-age children, left-behind children in Hechi in Guangxi province and migrant children in the Pudong New Area of Shanghai, both had completed all three phases of the project, including the baseline assessment, intervention phase and post-intervention phase. In the design of the play-based educational activities, a series of picture books that focus on specific elements of the 7C model on resilience and were appropriate for children of different age groups were selected. In both Shanghai and Guangxi, findings showed that children from the intervention group had good gains in resilience, especially in attachment and self-regulation. In Africa, the project is implemented in three African countries, namely Zimbabwe, South Africa and Nigeria, and different levels of project implementation were noted in the three countries. Since the project was launched in January 2017, major activities have been undertaken over the last two years, include the completion of needs assessment and baseline study in all the three countries, the conduct of stakeholder's sensitization workshop and the development of training program and the preparation of draft training manuals for teachers and parents. The stakeholder validation meeting also endorsed an action plan that saw the development of the draft training manuals for Play and Resilience (for parents and teacher educators respectively).

The main outputs during the second year of the project implementation are:

- Completion of needs assessment and baseline studies for all target groups in China and Africa
- Teachers' toolkit consisting of several training manuals and multimedia materials for play and resilience has been developed will be made available for teachers in both printed and soft copies
- Play and Resilience Closing Seminar at Limpopo Province

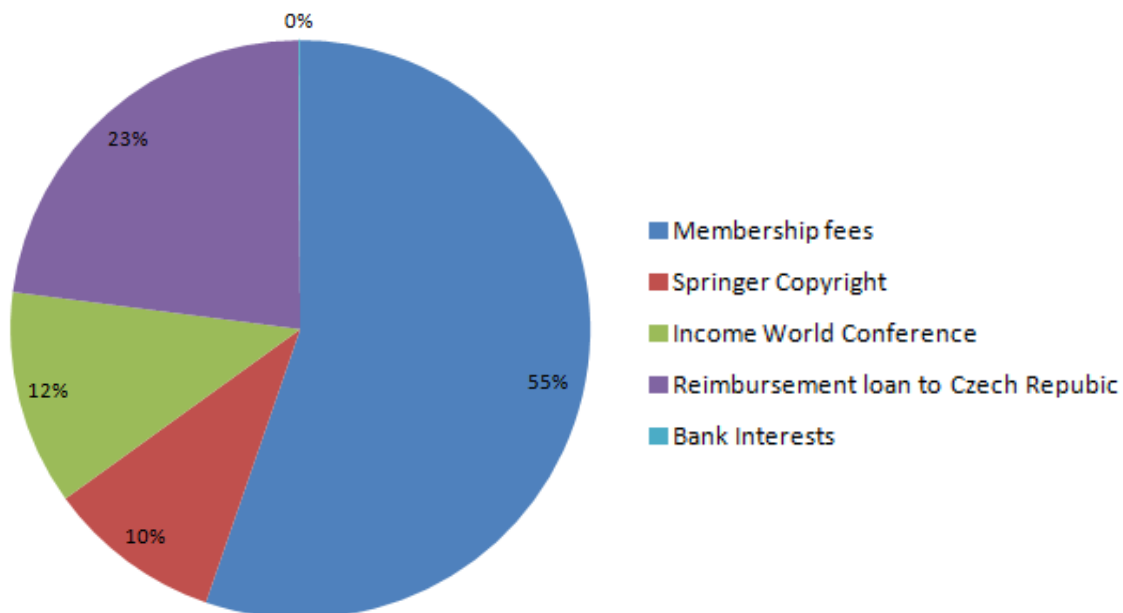

The project will be concluded by June 2019 and we hope that the facilitation guide, teachers toolkit, video play book will be valuable resources to scale up the project at other countries. Sincere thanks for the kind support from UNICEF China and UNESCO IICBA.
